ABOUT CANARIE

CANARIE connects Canada to the world. Our programs equip researchers, students, and startups in Canada to excel on the global stage.

Together with our 13 provincial and territorial partners, we form Canada's National Research and Education Network (NREN). This ultra-high-speed network connects Canada's researchers, educators, and innovators to each other and to global data, technology, and colleagues.

To strengthen the security of Canada's research and education sector, we collaborate with our partners in the NREN, government, academia, and the private sector to fund, implement, and support cybersecurity initiatives. We also provide identity management services to the academic community through eduroam and identity and access management services.

Established in 1993, CANARIE is a non-profit corporation, with most of our funding provided by the Government of Canada.

SOMMET

The CANARIE Summit is a showcase for trailblazing visionaries from research and post-secondary institutions, the private sector, and the public service who discuss their transformative work with an intimate gathering of Canada's research, education, and innovation communities.

The Summit features two days of engaging plenary sessions led by Canadian and international speakers aimed to inspire attendees to learn, discuss, and collaborate on timely and meaningful themes.

THE FUTURE IS CONNECTED: THE POWER OF TRUSTED NETWORKS

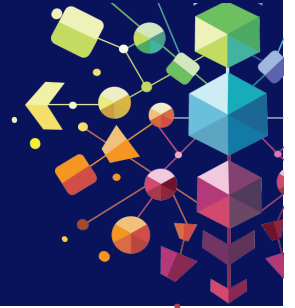

Scientific discovery, economic competitiveness, and societal progress increasingly depend on one thing: trusted networks. Not just connection at speed, but connection built on trust—secure, resilient, and designed to move ideas, people, and data at the scale modern research demands. This year's CANARIE Summit brings global research, innovation, and digital infrastructure leaders together to explore how trusted, ultra-high-speed Research and Education (R&E) networks are powering the future.

From enabling data-intensive science and AI-driven discovery, to connecting researchers with global collaborators and tools, R&E networks are foundational infrastructure for Canada's economic success. They underpin breakthroughs in health, climate, advanced manufacturing, and quantum science—while also enabling talent development, innovation ecosystems, and participation across regions and institutions. As demands grow for sovereignty, security, and reliability, trusted networks are no longer optional—they are strategic assets.

Together, the Summit will offer a forward-looking, action-oriented perspective on how trusted networks connect Canada to opportunity—and how, by working together, we can ensure the future is not just faster, but stronger, more secure, and truly connected.

ATTENDEE FEEDBACK

“The speakers were excellent and matched the theme. I came away engaged, enlightened, emboldened, and energized. It was also great to see colleagues from near and far.”

“One of the most highly valued conferences I have attended. Every part of it was interesting and thoughtfully put together, organized, and produced. The attendees were also all the right people together to derive good value in networking and discussions.”

What did you think of the CANARIE Summit?

“It was an excellent event and networking opportunity. Presentations were interesting, relevant, informative, and provocative. I am looking forward to applying and sharing the tips and lessons I learned.”

“This was by far the best CANARIE Summit I have attended in the past six years, and I hope the quality of the content and delivery continues into the following years.”
